

Acknowledgements

This edition of the South African Child Gauge would not have been possible without the assistance and support of the following individuals:

- Debbie Budlender from the Centre for Actuarial Research, UCT, and Double-Hugh Marera from the Children's Institute for compiling the indicators data for the Children Count section.
- Children's Institute staff who provided comment on draft versions of the various contributions in this publication.
- Professor Larry Aber from New York University for reviewing the chapters on child poverty and income poverty in South Africa.
- Michael Noble and the research group from the University of Oxford for the use of large parts of their article in the chapter on children and poverty.
- Participants in the National Children's Forum and the Children's Institute's Growing up in a time of AIDS Radio-documentary Project for the artwork used in this publication.
- Jenny Young for the design and layout of this publication and the accompanying map.
- Logo Print for the speedy production of the publication.
- Children's Institute administrative, communication and knowledge management staff for their support in the production and distribution of this product.

The financial assistance towards this publication from Atlantic Philanthropies and The Elma Foundation is gratefully acknowledged. Acknowledgement is also due to Save the Children Sweden who generously funded the Means to Live project, on which much of the information in this publication is based. Opinions expressed and conclusions arrived at are those of the authors and are not necessarily attributed to any of the donors.

The names of children and caregivers whose stories are shared in this publication were changed to protect their identities.
